Cops release 'cab cam' pic of suspect

ROBBERY Police hope the first-ever release of an image captured by a city taxi's new "cabbie cam" will help them identify a suspect in the knife-point robbery of a driver last month.

At 10:45 p.m. on July 31, a Blue Line taxi driver was instructed by a fare to go to the rear of Ridgemont High School, where five black males allegedly pulled him from the car and robbed him at knifepoint.

The driver was not injured. The suspect is described as black, 18 years old with medium-length black hair and a small moustache. He wore a long-sleeved white shirt. He gave his name as "Mohammed."

It is the first time since cab security cameras became mandatory in taxis this month that police have released an image taken by the machines to assist an investigation.

City transit lacking 'cool' cachet: Study

Local residents say social stigma keeping youth in cars

TIM WIECLAWSKI
tim.wieclawski@metronews.ca

Satisfaction with Ottawa's public transit seems to be growing, but more young people have to view riding the rails and bus routes as "cool" if the system hopes to grow.

That's the conclusion of a 2008 OC Transpo usage and attitude survey released yesterday that marked an 18 per cent jump in riders who ranked Ottawa public transit as "good or very good," but also discovered a social stigma among younger commuters in particular towards public transit.

"You can see (ridership) going up every year, but underneath that curve there is a group of people that have the concept that they can't wait to buy a car," said transit services director Alain Mercier.

"We're actually losing a substantial amount of people every year as they migrate into finally buying a car. That's one of our challenges — to stop them from buying that car."

The survey of 2,000 city residents, conducted by Toronto-based Core Strategies Inc., is intended to give OC Transpo directions for increasing ridership.

Dan Baril, from Core Strategies, said convenience is the primary reason people chose to drive or ride the bus, but he said there's

'Very good' step

• According to the 2008 survey, 63 per cent of people ranked OC Transpo service as "good or very good", compared to 45 per cent who did so the previous year.

also a social barrier that must be broken in order to make it "cool" to choose transit.

"From the focus groups, what came up was this whole issue of whether or not transit versus driving around in a BMW was a question of social status," he said.

The survey asked if there was a perception that driving was seen as "socially better" than using public transit. Seventeen per cent off those surveyed thought non-transit users had a low opinion of transit riders.

Transit committee chair, Coun. Alex Cullen said it was reassuring to see growing rider satisfaction in the survey and credited improved transparency at OC Transpo when it comes to addressing service issues.

"It's recognizing problems and not trying to slough it off and addressing it has restored some confidence in the public in our ability to deliver services."

Country heart to city's EX

FAIR It started out as an agricultural fair.

And while some people gripe that SuperEX has abandoned its rural roots, organizers counter the 11-day event has evolved, while keeping a focus on the agricultural aspect that started it.

"(Agriculture) is an important component of SuperEX," said spokeswoman Cathy Farish. "Only now, it's more to educate people. It's mostly downtown city kids that come out, so we like to teach them about something they don't get the chance to learn about."

SuperEX organizers bill the Pure Country Pavilion at the Aberdeen Pavilion as a main attraction, with a petting zoo, 4-H livestock competitions, wagon rides and hands-on activities.

But SuperEX, which opens its 120th year today, has changed to include more family activities.

The event is expected to draw over 500,000 people and has even spawned its own festival. The six-day Capital Magic Festival, to run on weekends, features illusionists, escape artists and comedians.

The concert lineup includes Glass Tiger, Default, Shane Yellowbird, Jimmy Flynn, the Amazing Kreskin, the Stampeders and Kim Mitchell — free with admission for the first time this year.

The Coliseum building will become the sports pavilion, which will highlight sports demonstrations and autograph sessions as a tribute to the Olympics. And of course, there will be dozens of midway rides.

Ottawa Pride festival to get staggered start

Two events tomorrow night will whet partygoers' appetites for the Capital Pride Festival, but residents will have to wait for the main event to begin.

Following the Queer Spelling Bee and the Guerilla Gay-Fare, Capital Pride will go silent for the weekend while Montreal holds its annual pride parade and community day.

"We decided to keep it open so that people can attend in Montreal," festival spokeswoman Marion Steele said of the organizing committee's decision to hold a staggered start to the Ottawa festival.

"We decided to keep it open so that people can attend in Montreal."

Marion Steele

Held at the Shanghai Restaurant at 9 p.m., the Queer Spelling Bee will have contestants spelling words "that are quite different than words at regular spelling bees," said Steele. "It's definitely an (age) 19-plus event."

The Guerilla Gay-Fare invites people to dress in purple and "descend upon a straight-owned establishment," with this year's meeting spot being Elgin Street's Diesel Nightclub.

The festival officially kicks off with a flag raising at city hall at 4 p.m. Monday.

Despite cutting a weekend out of the festival, organizers are still expecting its best attendance numbers ever. "Over the seven days, we're expecting 50,000 people," said Steele.

With its world-class sporting facilities and three student residences, Ottawa is a "logistical dream" for the Ontario Summer Games, organizers said yesterday to launch the event.

The four-day games, which kicked off with opening ceremonies at Carleton University yesterday, bring 3,500 athletes and over 500 parents, coaches and managers from across Ontario to the capital and event co-director Carrie Croft said Ottawa was more than ready for them.

For the fourth time — and for a second consecutive year — "Ottawa has the facilities and the infrastructure to accommodate the event," said Croft.

"The Terry Fox (athletic facility) has a fantastic track and field facility and there are two great baseball venues," she said.

Orleans' Heritage Park and Hamilton Yards on Woodroffe Avenue both have baseball fields that didn't require any improvements to meet provincial sport standards.

"The 48 venues are technically approved by provincial sport organizations. There aren't many cities that would have that many sports facilities technically qualified for provincial championships," said Pat Reid, director general of the games.

With the University of Ottawa, Carleton University and Algonquin College, there's also an abundance of accommodation for athletes, said Croft.

The athletes aren't the only ones benefiting from having the games in the capital. The games brought $1.2 million into the city in 2006 and the addition of new sports this year — including swimming, water polo, triathlon and lawn bowling — will likely make the economic impact closer to $1.5 million in 2008, said Reid.

The more popular events, including baseball and track and field, are likely to bring in spectators from outside the area.

Although local sports nuts are tuning into the Olympics in Beijing, the event will help, not hinder the games here, Croft said.

"People understand the link between the summer games and the Olympics — that these are up and coming athletes, that they are future Olympians from Ontario," she said.

An estimated 2,500 rabbits were killed when fire destroyed a barn in Metcalfe — one of two barn blazes in the city's south end early yesterday and late Tuesday night.

Ottawa Fire Chief Sheldon Ridgeway said firefighters were called to a rabbit farm at 2118 8th Line Road in Metcalfe at 11:37 p.m. Tuesday, where crews found a barn fully engulfed in flames.

It took an hour for 53 firefighters to extinguish the fire but the barn was totally destroyed, causing an estimated $70,000 in damage.

"I can't give you an estimate on what the rabbits were worth," said Ridgeway. Firefighters were called to another barn fire in Stittsville at around 1:10 a.m. at 5611 Fernbank Road, where a barn was fully engulfed in flames.

"It was going pretty good," Ridgeway said.

The barn, which was vacant at the time, was the second building on the site to be destroyed recently, said

Ridgeway. "The house out there (also) burnt down several weeks ago."

It took 21 firefighters about 20 minutes to put out the flames. There were no injuries.

Although firefighters are not yet calling the fire suspicious, the incident is under investigation.

"They don't start by themselves," Ridgeway said.

Three aid workers killed in Afghanistan

Two Canadians among dead after insurgent attack

Suspected Taliban insurgents killed three female aid workers and their Afghan driver in an ambush yesterday, officials said, the bloodiest single attack on foreign humanitarian workers in Afghanistan in recent years.

Afghan President Hamid Karzai described the attack as unforgivable.

The lawsuits came the

Ottawa Hunt and Golf Club hosting Canadian Women's Open

When the stars of the LPGA Tour take to the course for today's opening round, waiting to challenge them will be a championship-tested layout at the Ottawa Hunt and Golf Club.

Following their appearance in yesterday's Championship Pro-Am, LPGA Tour stars Paula Creamer, Dawn Coe-Jones, Annika Sorenstam and defending champion Lorena Ochoa spoke about the venerable Ottawa Hunt layout as they prepare to challenge for the $2.25 million CN Canadian Women's Open.

"The golf course, the setup of it is, it feels like feel a major," Creamer told the RCGA. "The fans, it's a great venue. It's run really well. To come to an event where there are so many people and so many volunteers and the field, you know, you have everybody who is anybody at this event. That's what you want. You want the best players at a tournament."

For the defending champion, the renowned Hunt Club celebrating its centennial has already left a lasting impression.

"I'm impressed. For sure congratulations to everyone in here working hard," said Ochoa. "This is a beautiful course. I can say so far its my favourite place on tour. I love that it's old and it's very traditional."

This year's event will mark the end of an era, as both Annika Sorenstam and Canadian Dawn Coe-Jones will be playing in their final Canadian LPGA Tour event.

Over one million Canadians choose 10-10-yak for long distance...

...and here's why.

No Sneaky Fees with 10-10-yak! When we say no sneaky fees, we mean it. Most people don't even know their phone company charges a monthly access fee buried somewhere in their bill.

No Minimum Fees with 10-10-yak! Some companies like 10-10-100 offer a low rate, but then you find out you have to pay a 25¢ minimum fee. Why can't they just be straight shooters like Yak? Well, the answer's simple - you're attracted by the low rate and they hope you don't notice you're paying more. Egad! That's not the Yak way.

No Promo Pricing at Yak! Sure we could offer you a month or two for "free" and then jack up the rates, or offer $10 off some service and then ... whammo, you find your bills are right back up there. Did you know that never in Yak's history have our rates ever gone up! Rates always go down and you AUTOMATICALLY get the best rate possible.

No Contracts! Use us when you want to. Just try and do that with a big telephone company. Once you've signed one of their contracts you'll find your provider jacks up the rates regularly or boost the monthly fees or the access fees (Rogers raised their so called "system access fees" by 32%). How about the network fees? If you don't have a Bell long distance plan, welcome to a $1.25 "network connection fee" on your first long distance call each month - make one call for one minute in Canada and you're paying more than $1.25.

REMEMBER: Yak is a nationally available 10-10 company and our rates never go up. You'll never pay any fees what-so-ever. With Yak, there are no contracts, there are no credit checks and all calls appear on your local telephone bill.

What is Dial-Around? 10-10-yak (925) is a simple seven-digit code you dial before every long distance call you make. After dialing 10-10-925 do not wait for a dial tone, simply dial the long distance number you're calling in one continuous sequence. For North America: dial 10-10-925 + 1 + area code + number. For overseas: dial 10-10-925 + 011 + country code + number. No extra bill, no hassle, no contracts. Just great Yak rates.

Just call 1-866-473-0690 or visit www.yak.ca and we'll show you why over one million Canadians choose Yak.

Check out www.yak.ca for details.
Effective June 1st, we've dropped our rates to over 50 destinations!

Lack of funds hamstringing Canada

Are our athletes cursed or is cash shortage to blame for medal drought?

YorkReport

Marty York

marty.york@metronews.ca

The entire Canadian team, it seems, will collect fewer medals at the Beijing Olympics than U.S. swimmer Michael Phelps.

And this, I suggest, sucks.

Our athletes are emulating our dollar, falling shamefully below the Americans.

Even Mike Brown of Perth, Ont., came oh-so-close to a medal early this morning in the men's 200-metre breaststroke, but is also without any hardware. He was fourth.

Perhaps these are pleasant days for manufacturers of anti-depressants in this country, but I can't think of any other Canadians who could possibly be enjoying what's been happening to our representatives in Beijing.

Brent Hayden was supposed to be a savior of sorts, right? A world-class swimmer from B.C. who tied for gold in the 100-metre freestyle at last year's world aquatic championship. Hayden gave us hope, especially in his commercials. But he didn't even earn the chance to swim for a medal after fizzling in the semifinal. He also was part of the Canadian men's 4x200-metre relay swim team, which finished a disappointing fifth.

Hayden has assured us in interviews that he'll get over his disappointment. But will we?

What if all 300-plus Canadian Olympians follow Hayden's strokes and come up short in China?

I mean, this is like a bad nightmare. Or a swift kick to the testicles.

Even if you don't have any.

Just ask Canadian fencer Sherraine Schalm, who entered the Olympics ranked fifth in her sport but who was subdued by Hungary's Ildiko Mincza-Nebald.

"It's like I imagine being a man, it's like being kicked in the nuts repeatedly," Schalm lamented after her loss. "You feel like you want to curl up and die."

Who's cursed Canada?

Our field hockey team was ahead of Pakistan 1-0 before losing 3-1. And then Canadian player Ravi Kahlon got the horrifying news that his 39-year-old uncle died in a car accident in India.

Divers Alexandre Despatie and Arturo Miranda, who finished second at the world championships last year, placed fifth in the men's three-metre synchronized diving event.

And on and on it goes for Canada.

How come?

Well, a shortage of funds is the predominant feeling among Canada's athletes.

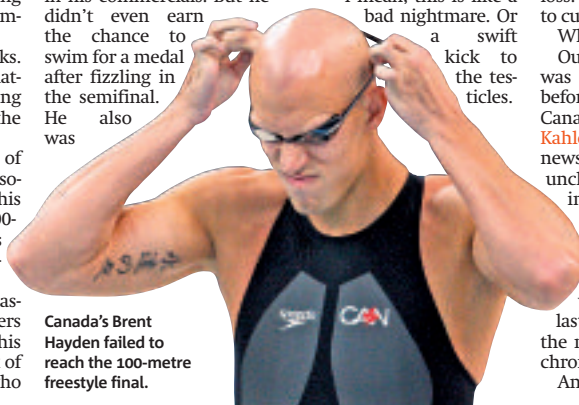

"It takes money to create opportunities, and more and more countries are streamlining funds to where the medals are," said Anna Rice, a Canadian badminton player whose stint in Beijing was short and not-so-sweet. "I think that's sad."

It is, especially for Canadian women, who don't receive as much financial support as their male counterparts. That's an issue on which I'll elaborate in a York Report in the near future.

In the meantime, for whatever reasons, our Olympians stink. Worse than China's air. And that's awfully bad.

Marty York has been a groundbreaking sports columnist and broadcaster in Canada for decades.

Canada's Brent Hayden failed to reach the 100-metre freestyle final.

Gasol says sorry for photos

BASKETBALL Spain star Pau Gasol apologized on behalf of his team yesterday after widespread criticism of slit-eyed gestures by the world champions at the Beijing Games.

Published pictures show the Spanish team standing on a basketball court. All the players are pulling the skin back at the side of their eyes.

"To me it was little clownish for our part to be doing that. The sponsor (Seur, a Spanish courier company) insisted and insisted. They pushed because they're the people that pay the money. It was just a bad idea to do that. It was never intended to be offensive or racist against anybody," the New York Times quoted him as saying on its website.

"If anyone feels offended by it, we totally apologize for it."

Brown can't break goose egg

Swimmer Mike Brown had held out the tantalizing hope of a medal to finally dent the goose egg put up by Canada at the Beijing Olympics.

The pride of Perth, Ont., looked in a perfect position to become the pride of Canada, too.

Brown looked so good in the semifinal a day earlier when he was the second-fastest qualifier with a time of 2:08.84 — one second faster than the Canadian record he'd set in the opening heat. Only three swimmers in history had ever gone faster.

The 24-year-old looked like a different swimmer in that race, showing a lot of power in every stroke as he ate up a lot of ground in the pool. The question was, did he shoot his best bullet before the final?

Hard to know for sure, this we do know: Brown just didn't have enough to get on the podium. He fell just 9/100ths of a second short in the men's 200-metre breaststroke final won for a second straight time by Kosuke Kitajima of Japan.

Brown was fourth at

Mike Brown of Perth, Ont., reacts after the 200-metre breaststroke final early this morning in Beijing. He finished in fourth place, just 9/100ths off of the bronze medal.

every split in the race and, in the end, that's exactly where he ended up. Another fourth-place finish, seemingly the bane of Canada's existence as an Olympic sport nation.

Kitajima led throughout the race to win in a time of two minutes, 7.64 seconds, off his own world record. Brenton Rickard of Australia took the silver in 2:08.88, while Hugues Duboscq of France out-touched Brown at the wall to take the bronze in 2:08.94. Brown was fourth in 2:09.03.

Also in the pool today:

• Erica Morningstar of

Calgary finished seventh in her 100 metre freestyle semifinal and was eliminated.

• Keith Beavers, of Orangeville, Ont., finished seventh in the men's 200-metre backstroke semifinal, failing to qualify for the final. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Rowing teams qualify for finals

ROWING Canada's David Calder and Scott Frandsen advanced to the men's pairs final after an impressive semifinal victory yesterday in Beijing.

Calder, a Victoria native, and Frandsen, who hails from Kelowna, B.C., will go for gold on Saturday.

The women's eight rowing crew also earned a berth in the final with a first place finish in their repechage race yesterday. Their final is scheduled for Sunday.

Thorman powers Canada past China

BASEBALL Scott Thorman of Cambridge, Ont., homered and drove in three runs to lift Canada past China 10-0 in their opening game of the preliminary round of Olympic men's baseball action yesterday in Beijing.

Solid pitching gave Canada a huge advantage as Uxbridge, Ont., native, Chris Begg struck out nine batters and gave up only six hits over 6²/₃ innings of work.

Federer scores revenge victory

TENNIS Roger Federer erased the bitter memory of his loss to Tomas Berdych at the Athens Olympics four years ago when he beat the Czech 6-3, 7-6 yesterday to reach the quarter-finals of the men's singles.

The Swiss top seed joined No. 2 Rafael Nadal of Spain and No. 3 Novak Djokovic of Serbia in the last eight after they cruised through earlier in the day.

Fresh, fast

Try to buy corn as close to the field where it was picked and cook it as soon as you can.

Does any vegetable say summer like corn on the cob? There are many ways to cook fresh corn. My preference is in the husk right on the barbecue, cooked until the husks are lightly charred and the kernels tender.

Should you have any corn leftover, try it in this recipe — ideal with grilled ribs.

Corn and Cheese Pudding

This is a good side dish for grilled ribs, chicken or pork. Kick it up with a few dashes of hot pepper sauce. Makes 4 servings.

INGREDIENTS:

- 1/2 red pepper, diced
- 2 green onions, sliced

- 2 tsp (10 mL) butter or vegetable oil
- 1/4 cup (60 mL) cornmeal
- 1/2 tsp (2 mL) salt
- pinch pepper
- 1 cup (250 mL) milk
- 1 cup (250 mL) cooked corn kernels
- 1/2 cup (125 mL) shredded aged Cheddar cheese
- 1 egg, lightly beaten
- Few dashes hot pepper sauce, if desired

METHOD:

In a microwaveable bowl, combine red pepper,

Shredded cheese and cooked corn are the primary players in this savoury pudding — a great accompanying dish for juicy, grilled ribs, chicken or pork.

green onion, butter or oil and microwave 2 to 4 minutes at High, or until softened.

In a 4 cup (1 L) round microwaveable bowl, whisk together cornmeal, salt, pepper and milk. Microwave, uncovered at High for 3 to 5 minutes or until mixture comes to a boil and thickens. Stir partway through cooking. Stir corn and cheese into cornmeal mixture until smooth. Stir in egg, red pepper mixture and hot sauce.

Microwave, uncovered at Medium (50%) for 4 to 6 minutes or until mixture is firm. Stir gently partway through cooking. Let stand about 5 minutes before serving.

Tips:

- Storage: The sugar in corn starts to turn into starch the moment it is picked. If you must keep it, wrap in a plastic bag and refrigerate. Use within 2 days.

- Did you know? The average yield from a stalk of corn is usually 2, sometimes 3 cobs. An ear of corn averages 800 kernels in 16 rows.

- Good for you: Corn is a source of dietary fibre, potassium, thiamin, niacin, magnesium and folate.

Tech Now

Refuted

There's no evidence that greater access to computers ... has a positive correlation to academic achievement, a study suggests.

UNIVERSITY OF MUNICH

Do computers help or hinder pupils?

Over the next couple of weeks, students will be heading back to school. Be it university or grade school, computers will be everywhere. However there's still a debate over whether tech helps or hurts students.

A Munich University study four years ago is quoted as perhaps the most definitive examination of the issue. It concludes that while moderate computer use has a beneficial effect, heavy computer use has no significant benefit and excessive use has a negative impact.

There is agreement that young people need to learn technology, but questions remain about how much

TechNow

Paul Brent

Nowadays, younger students may expect technology in a classroom, as it's like having paper and pen to them.

needs to be taught at school, and how much young people will pick up simply by living a life surrounded by technology.

Younger students seem to expect technology in the class. A computer to them is what paper and pen were to an earlier generation. SMART Technologies makes an interactive, electronic white board and schools have been a huge market for them, with studies showing tech better engages both students and teachers in the learning process.

Clickers are the latest rage in schools. The handheld device allows each student to electronically large classes.

Apple conducted a 10-year study and found students learned better and faster while teachers said they feel more like guides, where the technology allows a new age of learning that's more student directed.

But a University of London study notes constant interruption by e-mails, phones, pagers and other devices causes the equivalent of a 10-point drop in IQ.

Heather Menzies at Carleton University has written several books on this subject and says she's most concerned about very young children who are swept up in the techno age and expect everything to happen at the speed of light, and not the real speed of human learning.

If technology is a key tool for students, then the challenge for teachers is to educate themselves so they can properly teach with tech. And parents should seize the opportunity to talk to their children about how technology is used at school.

Canadian band Broken Social Scene are set to take the stage at the 15th annual Ottawa Folk Festival.

"The folk community is so warm and inviting as soon as you get there. People don't think you're weird for starting a conversation with whoever is beside you."

Ana Miura

When Ana Miura is not performing at this year's Ottawa Folk Festival, she will be furiously folding paper as part of an effort to create 1,000 origami paper cranes.

The Ottawa-based artist, who is half Japanese, will be participating in this effort, which is aimed at highlighting the 80th anniversary of diplomatic relations between Canada and Japan.

"If anybody wants to help, they can stop by," she says, explaining that the 1,000 paper cranes are part of a traditional Japanese fable of hope.

Miura takes the main stage on Friday at 6:05 p.m. and is looking forward to it.

"The Folk Festival is awesome. The folk community is so warm and inviting as soon as you get there. People don't think you're weird for starting a conversation with whoever is beside you," Miura says.

This isn't Miura's first time performing at the festival. She has opened for Sarah Harmer, and also participated in a collaborative song circle. And while the Folk Festival's lineup sometimes attracts controversy as to the legitimacy of how folksy the music actually is, Miura unequivocally places herself in this camp.

"I would definitely say I'm in the folk crowd. My music is less traditional with folk flavours to it, with more of a mix of jazz and pop elements."

This year, in addition to performing on the main stage, Miura will be in two song circles with My Chemistry Experiment and Sarah Harmer.

Miura is an Ottawa favourite, but she has been performing all over the world as of late. She just returned from a tour of the East Coast and a songwriting circle in Stouffville, Ont., and prior to that was on a tour of Central America (Honduras, Nicaragua and Costa Rica).

For this upcoming performance, Miura will have some new material to draw from, as she released an EP of six songs in July.

Expect the unexpected when BSS goes on stage

KATE CHAPPELL
for Metro Ottawa

When Broken Social Scene takes the stage, it is always a little bit of a mystery who will show up.

For their performance at the 15th annual Ottawa Folk Festival, Brendan Canning is one member who is certain to take the stage.

Canning, who has just released a new album (Something for All of Us), spoke to Metro Ottawa from his Toronto home about the upcoming show. This will be BSS's second time performing at the festival.

"I just like playing in Ottawa because we've always had a good showing there," he says.

And while it is nominally a folk festival, Canning wouldn't necessarily pin down the music style with one label, but he might slot BSS's music into the blues category. BSS has about 20 members, most of whom are also solo performers, including Feist.

In terms of taking the solo route for his latest album, Canning says the process wasn't even really a one-man effort. "It still involved a lot of the BSS crew (Kevin Drew, James Shaw, members of Metric, to name a few). It's not necessarily so much solo work, but I was left more to my own devices."

Not only was the recording process a collaborative effort, but so are the styles that influence Canning. "My influences are ever-changing," he says, listing pop, rock, jazz, blues, reggae, hip-hop, African and Latin, among others.

Recording this album was "sort of messy, but I really just wanted to start an idea and see where it goes."

But there is another layer to the album and its title, Something for All of Us. Canning says it is also a commentary on the current political atmosphere, which is arguably one of pandering and reductionism and blind optimism.

"It is definitely an idyllic way of thinking," he says.

Canning's life in Toronto and travelling by bicycle across the city also created this mindset. "I see the divide of people, and the divide of what people have in different neighbourhoods from an outsider's perspective."

As far as who will show up for BSS's performance, Canning was still unsure at the time of the interview. "I'm not totally sure. We might have a few extra people come," he says.

Madonna chooses Givenchy

Madonna has chosen French Haute Couture house Givenchy to design clothing for her new Sticky and Sweet world tour which starts in Britain this month, the fashion firm said yesterday. Two outfits from Givenchy Haute Couture by designer Riccardo Tisci have been created for the "queen of pop." Givenchy described the first as a reference to "Gangster Pimp" and "Art Deco" and the second as "a Gypsy inspiration." REUTERS

the dress

Wondering what to wear to a summer wedding? We all want to look our best but remember outshining the newlyweds is a faux pas so steer clear of anything way above the knee and anything too low cut. Look for dresses that are simple and that have a classic silhouette to them. August is the perfect time to shop as stores are getting rid of their spring and summer stock so hit up the sales and grab your size before you hit the celebration.

the bag

Bring the right bag to the reception. Big over-bearing bags are just too much to tote around to an event that'll have you travelling around — think church to hotel reception or lobby bar to dining table. So instead of the typical big boho bag, look for something that's a little bit smaller.

Private Practice

Aw, ain't it grand? Addison (Kate Walsh) can't seem to stop thinking about Pete (Tim Daly), but she also can't go along with what Naomi and Violet (Audra McDonald, Amy Brenneman) are suggesting to deal with it. Maya (Shavon Kirksey) and a friend show up with a very grown-up problem. Sam (Taye Diggs) treats a woman who wants a drug to help her forget the trauma of a home invasion, and Pete treats a student athlete who refuses medication. 10 PM on 20 ABC

Ugly Betty

Take your complaint up with Portnoy, Betty. In "A Thousand Words by Friday," Betty (America Ferrera) is excited about an assignment to interview writer Phil Roth. Unfortunately, this guy is not Pulitzer Prize-winning novelist Philip Roth but some dude who writes books about picking up women. Daniel (Eric Mabius) learns a shocking secret about a new lust interest (Gabrielle Union). Gene Simmons also guest stars. 8 PM on 20 ABC

Album: Funeral Mixtape

Label: Mint

Rating: ⓈⓈⓈ

JUST BECAUSE the blues rock duo section of the record store is getting overcrowded (White Stripes, Black Keys, etc...) doesn't mean one more fiery twosome can't be squeezed onto the shelf. Vancouver's Becky Black and Maya Miller, a.k.a. The Pack A.D., can't compete with The White Stripes, but there's still a lot to like about this band. Here, the group crank things up offering listeners a healthy dose of southern blues mixed with loud distorted guitars and bright vocal wails. While their axeman-ship could be better, this is still a fun record to rock out to.

The Jonas Brothers

Album: A Little Bit Longer

Label: Hollywood/Universal

Rating: ⓈⓈ

THERE'S NOTHING REALLY wrong with kids listening to this stuff. Every generation, going back to the Ricky Nelson kids of the '50s, has had to endure this kind of corporate brainwashing. Unfortunately, a few years from now our children will be waking up feeling oily and used. And one day, they'll grow up and be forced to admit that they pressured their parents into spending hundreds of dollars on Jonas Brothers CDs, tickets and merchandise. But, hey parents, you can say "No." Eventually they'll appreciate your actions. A Little Bit Longer is exactly how long this boy band will remain in the limelight.

YOU CAN TELL

its the dog days of summer when the best the big labels can offer up is Girlicious.

The Backstreet Boys and the Jonas Brothers. At least the Jonas Brothers really are brothers.

Who knows what Girlicious is? A girl-group cloned from a previously cloned girl group?

Sooner or later the genetic line that produces perfectly formed bare midriffs has to start deteriorating.

The scary thing about this album is that it could so easily fit onto the playlists of so many radio stations. But that's another story.

Cruz? Beautiful?

BEAUTY Actress Penelope Cruz doesn't think she is beautiful, femalefirst.co.uk reports.

Cruz insists despite being one of the world's most famous sex symbols, she doesn't think she is attractive.

"I don't think I am beautiful," she says. "I can look good and I can look ugly. What's funny is that when I was younger, I wanted everyone to look at me. Now, I like to watch other people because you can learn a lot of interesting things."

Cruz, who is dating Oscar-winning actor Javier Bardem, also revealed she has no plans to marry the star.

"I don't know if I believe in marriage," she told Parade.com.

Cruise too pricey

CASTING Tom Cruise's role in Edwin A. Salt has reportedly been recast for Angelina Jolie because studio bosses fear he has grown too old to play a movie hero, imdb.com reports.

It was announced earlier this week that the script would be rewritten to cater for Jolie — well known for appearing in action films such as the Tomb Raider franchise and Wanted.

According to the New York Post, Cruise, 46, is no longer as marketable to youth audiences and has become too expensive to cast.

A source tells the newspaper, "Cruise is begging for MI: 4 (Mission Impossible: 4) but Paramount wants a younger, cheaper guy."

"(Cruise) had a tantrum and ran out of the meeting."

Kravitz has no plans to join Velvet Revolver

MUSIC Lenny Kravitz is still denying that he's set to join supergroup Velvet Revolver, femalefirst.co.uk reports.

The singer fuelled speculation he'll be Scott Weiland's replacement in the band after he joined Slash and his mates in the studio.

However, Kravitz won't be fronting Velvet Revolver any time soon as he tells RollingStone: "I know and love the Velvet Revolver guys, but there is no truth to the story about me joining their band."

Kravitz isn't the only singer linked to the band — former Skid Row star Sebastian Bach and Spacehog's Royston Langdon have also been named as possible Weiland replacements.

Weiland was reportedly kicked out of the band in April after fighting with his bandmates.

Low-key love for LiLo

RELATIONSHIPS Actress Lindsay Lohan and her close friend Samantha Ronson have vowed never to talk about their relationship, insisting it is a "private matter," imdb.com reports.

The pair has often been photographed holding hands and cuddling, leading to speculation that they are more than friends.

DJ Ronson insists the way their relationship has been documented in the media is often incorrect, but she refuses to clear up rumours they are a couple.

"I stay away from the tabloids. I'm not going to talk about Lindsay because she's my friend, you know? She's great. She's also 22 years old. I think people forget that," she tells Harper's Bazaar.

"With the Internet the way it is, one second we're enemies, one second we're best friends, one second we're lovers, and then we're broken up."

And Lohan has also broken her silence about her relationship with the 31-year-old — but only to insist that she will never divulge any of their secrets.

Referring to her Ronson's family, she says in an e-mail to the publication: "I love the Ronsons. They're close to my heart and I respect all the work they do."

"Samantha and my relationship is a private matter."

Hathaway happy

STATUS Anne Hathaway says being considered a sex symbol is an "unexpected" pleasure, femalefirst.co.uk reports.

"It's unexpected that anyone could think I'm a sex symbol. I think that anybody who went to high school with me would be very surprised!" the actress said.

"I'm so happy that I'm a 25-year-old working actress and that now people are starting to say I have brains. I always thought people believed I could only do one thing."

Hathaway said she first got into acting after being encouraged to pursue her dream by her parents.

"When I was 13 I joined a local theatre group and then I started doing commercials," she says.

"Also, my parents wanted to make sure I had a love of theatre and that was invaluable."

Taking Tori's side

TELEVISION Jennie Garth is "disappointed" her former Beverly Hills, 90210 co-star Tori Spelling won't be a part of the TV show's remake, and she's upset by reports a salary feud was to blame for her pal's decision to quit, imdb.com reports.

Garth, who reprises her role as Kelly Taylor on the revamped 90210, was looking forward to working with Spelling again and was upset to hear the actress, who was set to return as Donna Martin, had quit the project.

She tells Ew.com she's disappointed by online reports

Spelling dropped out of the new U.S. series after failing to land the pay-day Garth and Shannen Doherty were offered to reprise their characters from the original show.

"The press thinks we're at war over salary with Tori. I didn't know I was at war with Tori," Garth says.

"I'm really bummed because I love Tori and I was psyched Tori was going to be on the show. I think she should definitely get paid as much as either of us is getting paid. Her father created the show."

"It just seems wrong if that's the case. I don't know what really happened because I haven't talked to her."

"I would like to talk to her."

Spelling reportedly quit the new show after she discovered Garth and Doherty had been offered double her salary.

But Doherty disputes the figures.

"They didn't even get the numbers right, so I don't know if it's about the money."

HOW TO PLAY SUDOKU:

The digits 1 through 9 will appear exactly once in each row, each column, and each zone. (A zone is an outlined 3x3 grid within the larger puzzle grid. There are nine of these zones in the puzzle.) Do not enter a digit into a box if it already appears elsewhere in the same 3x3 zone, or in the same row across the puzzle, or column down the puzzle.
